LetsFundly launches its advertising & tools platform — version 1 is live, with more to come LetsFundly today launches the first version of its advertising and tools platform for Swedish growth companies and private individuals. The platform brings company presentations, secondaries and Bolagsanalys together in one place, alongside tools that help companies reach and communicate with their market.

In version 1, companies can already:

- Publish a company listing and presentation seen by a large investor base.
- Use outreach tools — AI-generated pitch deck, email and SMS campaigns, press material and company ads.
- Access Bolagsanalys — a forensic signal model from LetsFundly.
- Show secondaries — presentations of unlisted holdings.

Private individuals can explore companies, find secondaries and use Bolagsanalys as a benefit for registered users.

"This is version one. We've built the foundation — presentations, secondaries, Bolagsanalys and more — with more features on a rolling basis."

IMPORTANT INFORMATION

LetsFundly is an advertising and tools platform. We do not provide investment advice and do not broker services. LetsFundly is not supervised by Finansinspektionen as an investment firm. Bolagsanalys is a forward signal model from LetsFundly AB, not a credit report or advice. Secondaries and company listings are advertisements: contact and any deal happen directly between the parties at their own risk. Investments in unlisted companies involve high risk. You may lose all of your invested capital.
